Inviting Customers to Streamline

Unlimited Users · https://mountainstream.co/docs/customer-invitation/

[A customer settings page for The Hilton with multiple form fields, dropdowns, and options. A purple speech bubble says, Read this page thoroughly. Customer Settings can also be batch edited for efficient management.]

Send an invitation to use the system.

[A software interface under Customer Settings displays a contact list with names, emails, and roles. Purple arrows highlight how to select users to send invitations and mention that the system allows unlimited users for streamlined management.]

You may also send Invitations to all Streamline users.

[A software interface shows a user menu for sending invitations. A dropdown highlights Send invitations under COMPANY. In Customer Settings, colored dots next to names indicate user types: blue for company users, green for customers, yellow for suppliers.]

Unlimited User Access

Streamline allows unlimited users per customer, ensuring flexibility and scalability for all types of businesses.

---

1. Check your inbox or check your spam folder if you do not see it in your inbox.

[A customer invitation from Windmill Organic Sourdough for your new Streamline account. Includes a login button, account links, contact email, and the bakery’s address at 111 Gideon Road, London, SW11 5UU.]

2. Set a password.
3. Use link given to login.

[Login page for Windmill Organic Sourdough with a windmill logo, customer invitation message, an order deadline notice in red, fields for email and password, a “Log In” button, and links for mobile version, password reset, and privacy policy.]

Get Started